

Interstate MAX Station Area Revitalization Strategy

Portland, Ore.

Architect: Crandall Arambula

Like many derelict urban areas, North Portland faced a rapid decline in affordable housing, employment, transportation options, and retail and public amenities. This plan revitalizes the areas around six light-rail transit stations. In this framework, planners defined neighborhood centers and pedestrian links, and offered affordable housing solutions.

“This sensitive integration of urban design and transit stations facilitates informed, vital development for each neighborhood.”

